the office of minister of municipal affairs and health in 1920 and in 1921 and retired from public life during the latter year.

He was appointed to the supreme court of Alberta, appeal division, in 1926, and was sworn in as chief justice of the supreme court of Alberta, trial division.

In 1936 he was appointed chairman of the Board of Review under the provisions of the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act, on which board he was acting at the time of his death.

OUTSTANDING

ROBT. A. ANDERSON, clerk of the legislative assembly, recalled Sunday that Mr. Justice Mitchell had been regarded as one of the outstanding debaters during his tenure as a member of the Alberta legislature.

"He was a very keen debater and an outstanding orator," Mr. Anderson said.

Two important pieces of legislation were passed during Mr. Justice Mitchell's tenure as a member of the cabinet. They were the Women's Suffrage Act and the Prohibition Act, both being passed in 1915 and 1916 and being sponsored by Premier Sifton.

The late justice was a district court judge at Calgary from 1907 to 1910, resigning in that year to successfully contest the election for Justice Hat. He represented this constituency until 1913.

Mr. Justice Mitchell was appointed treasurer from 1913 to 1921. He held the portfolio of minister of municipal affairs and health.

ADMINISTRATOR

On a number of occasions Chief Justice Mitchell acted as administrator of the province in the absence of the lieutenant governor, Chief Justice Horace Harvey.

In 1939 Chief Justice Mitchell received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at convocation of the University of Alberta.

It is worthy of record that he is probably the only man in Canada who has resigned from the judiciary to enter politics.

Funerary services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday morning at the United Church, Howard and McLeod streets, in charge of arrangements are in charge of arrangements.

TRIBUTES ARE PAID

LATE CHIEF JUSTICE

HON. J. C. BOWEN, Lieutenant Governor, the passing of Chief Justice Mitchell is another blow in the ranks of those who have served in the public life of Alberta with distinction.

His mental capacity and his aptitude in public office is indicated by the fact that he filled various cabinet positions in earlier governments of the province with considerable ability. For more than 20 years he has served on the bench of the supreme court of Alberta.

I shall be one of that great company of friends who deeply regret his passing. He had a stout-hearted outlook on life and found great satisfaction in worth-while tasks to fulfill. He was a worthy among the pioneer builders of this province.

To his family and especially to his son, an active member of the Canadian navy, the people of Alberta and the province of Alberta tender their heartfelt sympathy.

MAYOR JOHN W. FRY, it is with extreme regret that I learned of the death of Chief Justice C. R. Mitchell. In his passing Edmonton and Alberta has lost a great servant and citizen. Canada and Alberta have lost a true friend.

CHIEF JUSTICE THE HON. HORACE HARVEY, Appellate Division, Alberta Supreme Court, the death of Chief Justice Mitchell has been an untimely loss to the province.

His speed with which the illness developed and the suddenness of death creates a great shock. He was always so active and cheerful, that it was hard to think of him as seriously ill. A few days ago when I saw him in the hospital he was cheerful, still, thinking of getting out of the hospital, perhaps having rest on his farm in the country and when yesterday morning I learned from his son, Robert, that he had become paralyzed and unconscious, it gave me a great shock.

Chief Justice Mitchell and I have been close friends nearly since the beginning of the century when he came to Medicine Hat from the province of New Brunswick. We both have sent to the West many of our young men who have achieved eminence.

Many U.S. Planes Reaching Britain

The United States army air force chief said that full-scale American participation with the Royal Air Force was "just a question of getting the planes over there and on time to build up our strength."

Intensively trained before they leave the United States, American bomber crews also undergo special pre-combat schooling with the R.A.F. before going into action, Arnold told a press conference.

Against the Japanese, Arnold reported that in actual combat armoured airplanes have scored an average of almost two to one in victories, although they have suffered a loss. The recently-disbanded American volunteer group did even better.

In air engagements involving 1,010 American army and 1,549 Japanese planes, he said American losses were 104 and the Japanese 190. Destroyed were planes probably absolutely destroyed, damaged or lost on the ground, and the figures took no account of the exploits of navy pilots.

Alberta District News In Brief

Over $2,000 Now Raised For Fund

GRANDE PRAIRIE.—Another successful concert in aid of the Milk-for-Britain fund was held in the Capitol theatre Sunday evening, when the sum of $400 was realized. This, with other recent efforts, brings the total for this cause raised in the town and district to more than $2,000. The Kiwanis Club is sponsoring the fund.

A novel way to raise funds was the row-weight guessing contest held in connection with the old-fashioned picnic at Lake Saskatchewan recently. More than 200 people tried their guessing powers on the row's weight, making another $40 for the Milk-for-Britain fund. At Rimbey, four little girls, under nine years of age, staged a fashion parade, and served tea to raise funds.

Dr. R. J. Benson, rector of St. Paul's church, Toronto, and former bishop of the diocese of Athabasca, was a recent visitor here. He was accompanied by Bishop Severin of Peace River. Mrs. Benson and Mrs. Severin were also in the party.

Bishop Benson and Mrs. Benson were on their way home after spending the past two months at Aklavik, where His Lordship had been acting as bishop of the Arctic.

Pemmican May Be Solution If Indians' Staple Dish Nourishing

Canada Adopts Food Rationing

By G. A. SCHIERHOLTZ
ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE.—Now that food rationing is a possibility, some white people are considering the preparation of pemmican, the Indian staple—the "energy" food that kept many a white traveller from starvation in the early days.

Records tell that some men and travellers on the Red and Churchill rivers 200 years ago brought from York Factory to Fort Garry on a diet of pemmican and river water and no mention is made that they suffered from hunger.

Pemmican is dried meat mixed with dried berries and bound together with melted fat. When buffaloes roamed the prairies, buffalo meat was the main ingredient; now the Indians use deer, moose or elk. The best of the lean meat is cut into narrow strips and dried in the sun. When thoroughly dry, the strips are cut into a powder, using stones or a wooden stick as a pestle. Then good tallow or bear fat is melted and the powdered meat, with dried berries, is mixed into the fat. The fat binds the ingredients together and the pemmican will keep indefinitely.

MAY BE COOKED. It is often eaten raw, but it may be cooked like a porridge, or cooked and allowed to cool, then sliced. Indians usually eat it raw. Don't think this is only an Indian dish, or one not used by whites for a hundred years. Many fur firms make up pemmican for Arctic explorers and police posts in the far north. Men travelling in the north can carry enough pemmican in their packs to take them to themselves for a full meal for a man travelling all day.

Squaws are busy now around Rocky Mountain House picking and drying blueberries and Saskatoon for the pemmican that they will make shortly for their winter's supply. Many think that if the Indians as much pemmican as their ancestors did, and less of the white man's foods that they have grown so fond of, they would be the strong race they were before the white man came. That the dreaded "Indian sickness" would not play such havoc with the tribes.

Arges Acceptance Three-Way Partnership Producer, Consumer, State Can Function Equitably

If the elected representatives of government would accept honestly their full responsibility as the state should, in the three-way partnership—producer, consumer and state—the democratic system could be made to work much more equitably. A. L. Burrows told members of the Edmonton Kiwanis club at their regular weekly luncheon meeting at the Macdonald hotel Monday noon.

Kiwanis Speaker

Mr. Burrows spoke on "Democracy as a way of life" and in bringing out his arguments in favor of a democratic way of living, he placed democratic principles alongside principles of socialism and expounded strong and weak points of both.

James A. Christensen, president of the Kiwanis, was chairman of the meeting. About 70 attended. In pointing out the weakness of the democratic system, Mr. Burrows showed how all such weaknesses could be remedied for a brighter way of life if representative state built up its major share of responsibilities as do the other two members of the three-way partnership, namely the producer and consumer.

WEAKNESS OF SYSTEM
He named selfishness and greed among humans, the political patronage and the uncontrolled profit motive as the three most "damnable" weaknesses of the present system of democracy.

On the other hand, people living in democracies have through the ages enjoyed the highest standards of living, Mr. Burrows argued. "Our forefathers have struggled for, and many of them died in the struggle to secure for us the right to the church we choose, that we might work at any job we choose, that we might marry whom we choose, that we might raise our families in security and educate them as they and we saw fit," he declared.

A CRITICISM
He criticized strongly the persons who denounce the present system of democracy, without attempting to propose a "practical workable" method of distribution of the national income. He placed the present system of democracy as the only one that has advanced these socialist theories say the state must own and operate everything, and that the state must own all land and water of the state, and that everyone is to be supplied equally by the state.

These same people forget the teaching of the parable of the talents in the Bible.

CONSIDER PRIVILEGES
He asked his listeners to consider what privileges and protection one can have and enjoy under the democratic type of government, and in the privileges which make it possible under the socialist form of government.

The following ten point program was presented by the economists of Britain and America as the cure to the present economic ills of the democracies of the world was listed.

—Rights of workers must take precedence over right of shareholders.

City Visitor

Dr. J. Murray Gibson, Montreal, president of the Canadian and a Handicraft Guild and noted author of "Sleed of Empire" and "Canadian Mosaic." He is widely known for his researches in Canadian folk lore and music and for his association with the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Auto Official Warns Against Poor Materials

A warning to motorists about the purchase of damaging substitutes in place of the regular brands of gasoline, antifreeze, tube patching ingredients, and other materials was issued Monday by R. A. Gosdon, president of the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Motor Association.

Mr. Gosdon pointed out that there have been no complaints from motorists about the quality of gasoline, but that there have been complaints about the quality of antifreeze, tube patching ingredients, and other materials. He said that these materials are often of poor quality and can cause damage to the engine and other parts of the car.

HEADS TEACHERS
Raymond E. Shaul, Edmonton teacher and past president of the Alberta Teachers' Association, who was unanimously elected president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation for the coming year at the Federation's convention held at Toronto last week.

The three other A. T. A. delegates who attended the convention were J. A. Smith, Kitscoty; T. D. Baker, Edmonton; and J. W. Barnett, Edmonton, general secretary of the A. T. A.

They had failed to detect the clear pattern of a race between sea power and air power in which aviation relentlessly pursued naval supremacy.

GETTING AROUND
Mr. and Mrs. James Walker were in Calgary for the graduation of their son, Sgt. R. G. Walker, who took part in the S.F.T.S. Currie Field on Friday.

ARMY AVIATORS Obtain Wings In Ceremonial
Stressing that the young men of the air force have a new but splendid tradition to maintain, Maj.-Gen. W. A. Griesbach, C.B.C., D.S.O., V.D., inspector-general of the Canadian Army in Western Canada, pinned wings on the tunic of the Canadian Army aviators and navigators at No. 2 Air Observers' School Friday afternoon.

In the brief ceremony at the parade ground the second class of graduates in the Canadian Army in the last two weeks, presented a smart "air force" salute.

Victory Through Air Power

By Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky

By MAJ. ALEXANDER P. DE SEVERSKY PART THIRTEEN
HOW TO DEFEAT JAPAN
The important part of the book, "Victory Through Air Power," is analyzed by Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky in the following article, the thirteenth and final installment from his book, "Victory Through Air Power."—EDITH.

By MAJ. ALEXANDER P. DE SEVERSKY
The war in the Pacific—the war America can and will win—has begun most inauspiciously. Pearl Harbor, Manila, Hong Kong, Singapore, and Java are milestones of disillusion.

The underestimation of Japan's strength and ingenuity was the least of the illusions. The greatest was the overestimate of the role of sea power. Within a few weeks after the attack on Hawaii, the Pacific floor was littered with Allied Japanese warships—all but a few of them killed off by airplanes.

The 400 million dollar naval base at Singapore turned into an island of ruins. The Japanese forces on ground forces could turn off invasions launched under the shield of superior naval power.

The desperate cries for help from every front called neither for ships nor troops, but only for planes—more planes and better planes.

In the Justice Roberts report on Pearl Harbor the most ominous passages were not those dealing with negligence and lack of coordination. These are human failures which can be quickly remedied. The really sinister passages were those indicating quite clearly that the responsible officers did not take the threat of air assaults seriously.

THERE WAS EVEN EVIDENCE THAT THE COMMANDING OFFICERS OF THE BATTLE FLEET, THE PRESENCE OF A STRONG FLEET IN PEARL HARBOR AS A SAFEGUARD AGAINST AIR RAID.

Those men were ignorant of what every airman and most laymen knew by that time; namely, that only air power can fight air power. They did not realize that the presence of battlefleets was an invitation to aerial attack.

In the present days of war, the Edmonton School Board will hold its Board meeting at 310 Civic Block, Tuesday, Aug. 18, at 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. James Walker were in Calgary for the graduation of their son, Sgt. R. G. Walker, who took part in the S.F.T.S. Currie Field on Friday.

AC2. N. C. Rushion, formerly R.C.M.P. constable at Gadsby, ended this week his tour of duty with the R.C.A.F. The two of his sisters and a brother are already serving with the R.C.A.F.

Two Edmonton girls, Cpl. Anne Newell, of the R.C.A.F. (W.D.), will shortly go to England to take a special course in connection with their training. Cpl. Evans is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Evans, Stoney Plain road, and Cpl. Newell is the daughter of C. F. Newell, K.C.

J. Harry Smith, Montreal, manager, Canadian Pacific Railway press bureau, stopped over in Edmonton on his way to the Pacific coast. He attended the annual convention of the Canadian Railway Newspaper Association at Saskatoon.

Henry C. Rea, Houston, Texas, research geologist for the British American Oil Co., Ltd., returned Saturday on a survey trip to the headwaters of the Peace River. ## Should Forget Unimportant Things of Life

If the Canadian people thoroughly understood the importance of this country in the war effort of the United Nations, and the opportunity afforded Canada to raise itself to a country of noble position in the eyes of the world, they would forget a lot of the inconsequential things that are worrying about and on which they are wasting their efforts, and would rally to the fight with the crusading spirit which is essential to victory. G. H. Lash, Ottawa, director of public information, stated on arrival here in the course of a tour of western Canada.

Mr. Lash attended the recent meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association at Saskatoon where he spoke on Canada's war effort. He will stop over here throughout Monday leaving Monday night for Calgary.

Mr. Lash said there is nobody can doubt the willingness of the Canadian people, their willingness to assist in every way possible in the war effort. But, "what's lacking, in my opinion, is that national spirit which changes a cause into a crusade. We have to have that crusading spirit, we cannot win without it," he declared.

MORE SACRIFICES
He said that sacrifices 30 to 20 times as great as those now being borne by the Canadian people would be imposed on it if we lost this war by not being able to impose suitable peace terms on the enemy. "A stalemate in the war will be defeat for the allies, he added."

Commenting on Canada's manpower situation, he said that since every year 10, 150, every three months, through the 24 hours of every day, somewhere in Canada a young man had volunteered for service with, and was accepted by the armed services. This figure included the members of the armed forces who had turned down for military reasons.

MANPOWER LOW
He said the manpower pool was extremely low, there being less than 100,000 men between the ages of 16 and 40 who were not mobilized. Many of those employed were working in industry non-essential to the war effort.

This dwindling pool of manpower, he said, with the realities of the introduction of some well defined system for the allocation of manpower to the war effort. Also it was evident, he said, that with the low manpower pool available it will be necessary to draw also on the women of the nation to take their place in the industrial battle for freedom.

WOMEN DOING WELL
He said that women in factories in eastern Canada were doing a magnificent job. In many of the industries turning in better work than the men. The type of work which the women surpass the men in that which requires the use of the eye and nimble fingers such as work on the assembly of precision instruments, certain phases of machine making and the making of optical instruments. He added that many factories were employing as many as 4,000 women in certain parts of eastern Canada.

BOOM CITY
Commenting on Edmonton's expansion, Mr. Lash said he had seen no city where the unbecoming manifestations of war were so apparent. It was not for the war effort, he said, that the city had grown so much, but that it was a boom city.

SENDS TELEGRAM
Introducing Dr. Tuttle, Mr. Lash said he could not see how anyone in Edmonton could fail to recognize that war was in the air, but throughout Canada there appeared to be a lack of appreciation for the immediate and grave dangers. He was not a teetotaler, but he was a teetotaler. "War is closer to our shores now than it has been for more than 20 years," he stated.

"Canada has been recognized as a nation within the British Commonwealth of Nations, but we have to prove that we are a nation in the true sense," he said.

MORE PROGRESS
Financially Canada was proving itself a nation, and that industrially no country, on a pro rata basis, had made the progress made here. The enemy has had 20 years to prepare for this war, we have had less than three. Any country that has the courage, the morale in large enough measure through the long years which may be necessary to achieve victory, to overcome the threat starts the Axis powers back.
